

INTDV goes for gold with Microsoft

KSA-based INTDV achieves highest level of collaboration with Microsoft and becomes its gold partner

Thursday, 19 November 2020

INTDV, one of the Middle East's leading emerging tech companies, headquartered in Riyadh with offices operating in Dubai, Kuwait and Cairo, has recently announced that it has become a 'Microsoft Gold Partner' for data analytics with focus on artificial intelligence and machine learning.

A 'Microsoft Gold Partner' is committed to achieving the highest level of customer care, ensuring their satisfaction and thoroughly professional interaction with its businesses, and maintaining collaborative partnership with Microsoft.

“Over the last few years, we have been working hard for driving digital transformation to provide quality products and services, and ensure customer satisfaction. With our established competencies in delivering data analytics solutions with focus on artificial intelligence and machine learning, we have managed to pass the rigorous and recurrent process of assessment conducted by Microsoft and become its gold partner,” said Mohammad Al Ajmi, the Chief Executive Officer of INTDV.

Microsoft gold partnership demonstrates INTDV's professional expertise in delivering high-end tech solutions to customers across various sectors, such as healthcare, entertainment, manufacturing, transportation, consumer goods and retail. Meanwhile, the certification will enable INTDV to bring significant benefits to its customers, including exclusive access to member resources, over 100 licenses for Microsoft products, stronger partner network connections, smarter training tools and programs, more partnership opportunities with Microsoft, and continuous customer support, news and updates.

About INTDV

Founded as a tech arm of KSA-based Al Quiyadia Group, INTDV is a robust developer of AI and ML solutions for businesses that play vital roles in the most important aspects of life worldwide, and a main player in the world of bots. In a very short time, it has managed to attract a large number of high-profile domestic and regional customers operating in various sectors, including healthcare, entertainment, manufacturing, transportation, consumer goods and retail.

For further information, please do not hesitate to contact us:

Marketing Department

Mr. Mohammed Barghuti

Mobile phone: +9665 350 90601

Email: m.barghuti@alquiyadia.com

www.intdv.com